The State of Ireland.

When Mr. Forster introduced his Coercion in Parliament last Monday, he did so with an adroit speech in which he declared that the condition of Ireland was deplorable, and drew harrowing pictures of the landlord terrorism. He was listened to by crowded benches. The silence was broken only once by exclamations of "Oh! oh!" from the English members as some graphic point in his description was made, or by an occasional challenge for authentication from some Irish member. In summing up, he declared that there existed a reign of terror in Ireland. The law of the Land-Leaguers was supreme, and the law of the land was powerless, hope to demolish his case and induce the advanced Radicals to vote against coercion. They say that the Government means to use the Coercion bill for surpressing the League. Mr. Dillon answered Mr. Forster's statement that the local power of the League was exercised by miscreants by calling to mind the fact that half the priests in Ireland were active members of the League. He accused the League of ruling by terror. When he announced as his conclusion, "We must strike terror into them," the House cheered with a heartiness which showed that the Government might thoroughly rely on the temper of members to force through any measures of coercion they wish to propose.

Peru and Chili.

"Be rude to the King," was the instruction sent to the French Minister at Berlin, when Napoleon the Great was determined to force an unjustifiable war with Prussia. The rudeness was indulged in and resented, war followed, and Napoleon was dethroned. In South America nearly the same game has been played. A comparatively small State was reaching out for some territory in dispute between her and Bolivia. Peru, a larger and more populous State, believing in her superior power, unnecessarily declared war, thinking to permanently check the growing importance of Chili. She has paid dearly for her ill-considered course. Overrun and pillaged by the Chilians, she now lies bleeding and prostrate at their feet, her President long since a fugitive, and his irregular successor at this moment a prisoner. She will lose territory of great value, and will be crippled for many years. As for Bolivia, Chili will probably annex her without more ado. The Chilians are the Prussians of South America.

Out of Politics.

Mr. Tilden has declared himself out of politics, and there is no reason why a gentleman like Mr. Tilden, with an ample fortune, should not repose in the shades of private life. The New York Star says its reporter called upon for an interview, when with considerable warmth, he said:

I have no opinion of the Democratic party. I don't care anything about it. People come here every day to ask my opinion on the same subject, and I tell them all the same. I won't be bothered about the party. I don't care for it.

"Circumstances alter cases." Mr. Tilden would not have expressed himself so freely four or five years ago.

The Pope's Condition.

"Rumors of a disagreeable and very mysterious kind have begun recently to circulate in the ante-chambers of the Vatican. The bodily condition of the Pope has been and is still giving considerable uneasiness to those about him. He is suffering from a strange condition of his nervous system, and is irascible to a singular degree with those about him, and imagines them all to be traitors. The result of this is that he is left in a condition of isolation, which makes matters worse."

Sad Affliction.

A family by the name of Curtis, consisting of the husband, wife and five children, while coming from Minnesota to Washington Territory, were compelled to stop at a relative's, in Nevada county, Cal., two weeks ago on account of the dangerous illness of all five of their children, from measles and pneumonia. The children all died within one week, and their deaths all recorded in one number of the weekly paper published in that county.

After a trial lasting twenty-four days the English Government has failed to secure the conviction of the Irish traversers. Yesterday the jury were discharged, having failed to agree. The trial has been a farce from the beginning, and so ended. The defendents were nearly all absent, badgering Gladstone in the House of Commons. The result shows that it is true that a bill of indictment cannot be drawn against a whole people. Coercion will be the next step taken against these wretched people, and there is every indication that Parliament will lose no time in granting the Government the power sought by it to crush out the Land League.

Some parties, unknown at present, tried to blow up the Lompoc Hotel, at Lompoc, Cal., last Monday night about 1 o'clock, by throwing bombshells in through the windows. Four were thrown, but only one exploded, breaking the doors, windows and partitions and causing great confusion. Two were thrown into the sleeping-room of Mr. and Mrs. Butchard, and one into the billiard-room, but did not explode, and the last in a shoe shop, which is part of the hotel. Had they all exploded the building would have been completely destroyed and several lives lost. The size of the bombshells was two feet two inches in circumference, and weight nearly six pounds each.

John Cummings, a farmer residing near Newark, Ohio, forbade his eight-year-old son from coasting on an adjoining hill. Last Saturday the boy disobeyed. The inhuman father took him to a barn, procured a hickory sapling, split it, put the boy's thumbs inside, split it, put the boy's thumbs inside, nailed the sapling tight where split, and then with it lifted the boy upon the side of the barn and nailed him there, keeping him thus crucified, and in this state unmercifully beating him the while from 4 o'clock in the evening to 10 at night, when passers-by heard the lad's groans and released him.

A Louisiana planter expresses the fear that more colored laborers will leave that State this year than ever before. It is estimated that a fourth of the South's cotton crop in 1880 has been lost, largely through lack of labor to gather it promptly. The exodus is a bad thing for the Southern whites. They ought to be able to see that it is to their interest to treat the colored men so well that they will be satisfied to remain and do the work they have so much capacity for.

The genius of woman is no more to be circumscribed than that of man. In literature she has long occupied high rank, and now she aspires to distinction in the domain of invention. We find in the Patent Office Report for 1880 that seventy patents were issued to women. They were mostly for articles of household convenience, as they ought to be, for in the family is where the mind of the good wife and mother should predominate in all things.

General Garfield is mentioned by the Boston Herald as still not only loaded with a mail that no three men can handle, but a stream of callers flows between Mentor depot and his residence.

A Sweeping Coercion Bill Introduced in Parliament.

A cable special to the New York Herald from London, of the 24th inst. says: The Government Coercion bill was introduced to-night in the House of Commons. It is called a "Bill for Protecting Life and Property," and is a coercive measure, pure and simple. It enables the Lord-Lieutenant to issue a warrant for the arrest of anybody suspected of treasonable designs, or of being connected with agarian outrages. Persons so arrested may be detained as persons accused of crime. The powers conferred by the Act are to remain in force until the 30th of September next. In other words, the personal liberty of all persons in Ireland is placed at the mercy of the Lord-Lieutenant. Mr. Forster introduced the bill in an adroit speech, with great dramatic power which made a marked impression upon the House. An overwhelming majority of the English members appeared to be quite convinced of the necessity of the measure, and seemed to regard Mr. Forster's statement as conclusive. Many Radicals, however, declare privately that no sufficient cause was made by Mr. Forster for the suspension of the constitutional rights of the Irish, and some are expected to speak to this effect. Parnellite members regard Mr. Forster's statement as weak.

A special from Montgomery, Alabama, says: Startling developments were made Tuesday at the examination in the contest of Paul Strobach against H. A. Herbert for a seat as Representative in the Forty-seventh Congress from the Second District of Alabama. It was proved that the Democratic manager of election confessed to having thrown out 300 Strobach votes and substituted 300 Herbert votes, causing thus a difference of 600 votes at one poll.

Coroner Deal, of Bodie, held an inquest last Saturday on the body of Dave Bannon. The verdict of the jury fully exonerated Ed. Ryan of all blame, the testimony showing that he had acted simply in self-defense. The Free Press of Sunday states that Ryan rested easy on Saturday, slept well and appeared to be stronger than on the evening immediately following the shooting, and to have fully recovered from the nervous shock incident to the wounds.

Secretary Schurz has preferred grave charges against the Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Company. He says they have perpetrated gross frauds in obtaining land grants from the Government, by means of false affidavits of construction. The papers in the case have been submitted to the U. S. Senate.

The Attorney-General will soon issue to county officers throughout the State a circular letter informing them that it is not legal for them to demand of their respective counties their fees in advance in suits wherein said counties are parties to the actions. The same rule is also to be applied in cases where the State is interested.

A man who arrived from Woody Mountain, at Fort Buford last Tuesday, reports that Sitting Bull has formally surrendered to the Canadian government, and asks that he may be sent under charge of an officer of the Northwestern Police to Fort Buford and turned over to military authorities at this post.

A mammoth hotel in course of erection at Ashbury Park, New York, was demolished by the gale Friday afternoon, the west wind blowing at the rate of 80 miles an hour. A partially completed cottage was blown to pieces. The storm has done immense damage all along the Jersey coast.

Mr. Edison declares his readiness to begin the illumination of New York city with electric light, having perfected his lamp and brought his manufacturing establishment to a degree of efficiency to supply lamps as fast as fast as wires can be laid in the streets for their use.

I have several fine banjos, German-silver bound, real costly ones; still, I will sell any of them from $7 to $12. Uncle Harris, 221 Kearney street, between Bush and Sutter.

The person who, about two weeks ago picked up Mrs Northrop's porte monnaie containing some money and other valuable articles the loss of which has heretofore been advertised in the JOURNAL is hereby politely and respectfully requested to leave the same at this office as soon as convenient to do so The name of the finder is known and further publicity may not be desirable to the party having it in possession

We hope to see the county Commissioners at their next session, take some action on the suggestion of the late Grand Jury in relation to certain improvements at the Court House The improvements are needed badly, and ought to receive the attention of the Commissioners at once

Although the fact that Captain Johnson proposes to build an elevated foot walk over the Sierra street railroad crossing, was made known for the first time yesterday morning the Captain has already had 23 different plans submitted and 287 applications from carpenters anxious to go to work on the job

The Chinamen of the town are now scratching gravel in order to pay their debts All must be square with the world next Sunday—their New Year's Day—or they will get no more credit during the ensuing year from their fellow countrymen All high and low must thus square accounts

The Mephitis Americana In a New Roll

The boys at work on the foundation of the mill, west of the big reservoir, made a startling discovery yesterday. It has been known for some time that the catfish in the big reservoir were being destroyed, hundreds of heads and bones of the dead fish lie all along the edge of the water For some time the trouble was laid to the door of some mischievous boys, but the closest watch over the premises failed to detect the miscreants The cause of all this vandalism remained a mystery until yesterday, when the mill boys, before mentioned, accidently dropped on the whole "racket" Going to the reservoir for water early in the morning, they discovered a small animal near the waters edge, on the eastern shore of the little lake Its movements were closely watched for a few moments, when it was seen to dive into the water and out again like a flash This movement was repeated several times On approaching the animal, it proved to be a Veritable Mephitis Americana The little rascal had succeeded in filching from the water three good sized fish, two of which he had already quite devoured, leaving the third one on the bank still alive It appears that the fish occasionaly congregate near shore and come to the surface for air, and in this way, become an easy prey to the villainous skunk

Theatrical

The theatrical troupe which will play here next Friday and Saturday have met with an enthusiastic reception in Virginia city and Carson where they are now playing Friday night they will play Mazeppa wherein Miss Buckinham as Mazeppa will appear bound upon "the wild horse of Tartary On Saturday afternoon, at 2 o clock, a grand matinee will be given by the company, which will consist of a comedy in two acts, entitled the "Soldier s Bride in which Miss Constance Murielle will take the leading part The comedy will be followed by the play of "Dick Turpin in which Miss Buckinham plays the title role During the play Turpin s famous ride to York will be introduced, by Miss Buckinham appearing before the audience upon her trained steed, Melville, and jumping her over a four foot toll gate Saturday evening will be produced the standard drama of "Green Bushes ' which calls forth the entire strength of the company, Miss Buckinghom appearing in the dual role of ' Miami ' the huntress of the Mississippi, and Madam St Aubert The company are going to great expense in fitting up the stage and scenery of the Nevada Theater for the occasion Workmen are now engaged upon it

The stereopticon lecture on "Rome" by the Rev Mr Morgan will be delivered on Monday evening Jan 31, 1881, instead of Wednesday following in order to avoid clashing with the entertainment at the Methodist church on February 2d next The place and hour are the same as on the printed tickets

There are two bills now before the Legislature—one in the Senate and one in the Assembly—identical in features, appropriating $100 000 to erect the State prison at Reno and transforming the present prison into an insane asylum It is proposed that most of the work on both structures shall be done by convict labor

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care
Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever
It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color
It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean
By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong
As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual or desirable
Dr A A Hayes State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes
